Nandina domestica Obsessed (P)

This compact evergreen shrub, known as the 'Heavenly Bamboo', is primarily grown for its handsome year-round foliage. The new growth in spring is a fiery red before gradually turning a rich green which shows off the white conical inflorescences that appear in late summer.

It works great as a solitary show-piece or mixed with other plants in a container on your patio. It is also very suitable for plant borders and is very easy to maintain.

- * Intense red foliage
- * Bushy, upright habit
- * Low maintenance
- * Long lasting colour
